RETURN OF FALLEN U.S. SECRET SERVICE SPECIAL AGENT NOLE E. REMAGEN

(WASHINGTON, D.C.) U.S. Secret Service Special Agent Nole E. Remagen, who passed away on July 17, 2018 in Scotland, will arrive today at 1:30 pm, via U.S. Air Force military airlift to Joint Base Andrews, Maryland.

Special Agent Remagen's repatriation to the United States represents the return of a fallen Secret Service Special Agent who exemplified the core values of the Secret Service - Justice, Duty, Courage, Honesty and Loyalty.

Special Agent Nole E. Remagen – Forever Worthy of Trust and Confidence.

The Secret Service extends our heartfelt appreciation for the support received from all of our partners in the military, law enforcement, and medical communities, here in the United States and in Scotland. You have all treated Special Agent Remagen as one of your own, and for that we are eternally grateful.

Special Agent Remagen, a 19-year Secret Service veteran, leaves behind his wife and two young children. We ask for your understanding and continued respect for their privacy. Today's event is closed to the public and media.

Additional information will be posted on www.SecretService.gov at the appropriate time.
